

JOSEPH PROUST

(1754-1826)

Joseph L. Proust was born on September 26, 1754 in France. Proust studied copper carbonate, the two tin oxides, and the two iron sulfides to prove the law of definite proportions. Proust was the first scientist to think that chemical compounds are formed from definite proportions.