

QUIZ: TISSUES-II

Select and mark the correct answer (T/F)

1. Cells specializing in one function are often grouped together forming a tissue for the following reason.
 - (a) So as to give the highest possible efficiency of function (T/F)
 - (b) For easy identification (T/F)

2. It is a common practice to cut the grass in the lawn periodically. Yet the grass grows. It is because of growth due to
 - (a) Apical meristem (T/F)
 - (b) Intercalary meristem (T/F)

3. The meristematic cells do not possess
 - (a) Prominent nucleus (T/F)
 - (b) Vacuoles (T/F)

4. In plants lateral growth is due to
 - (a) Vascular cambium and apical meristem (T/F)
 - (b) Vascular cambium and cork cambium (T/F)

Answers:

1. (a) True
(b) False
2. (a) False
(b) True
3. (a) False
(b) True
4. (a) False
(b) True